How to arrange furniture in a small living room?

Creating a calm space to unwind in that satisfies the eye can be a challenge, but opting for a symmetrical look while staying as minimalist as possible with the help of our stunning range of Delcor living room furniture, will create an aesthetically pleasing and tranquil living environment.

This design technique, however, requires a good eye as an overly symmetrical appearance can lead to a look that's too ordinary or basic. To avoid this, keep texture and shape varied, which will add character to your living space. Our bespoke collection of premium textured fabrics featuring thousands of patterns, styles and checks, can add a varied and interesting appearance. With exceptional quality and durability, our high grade upholstery fabrics add a much-needed, unique spark to all kinds of living areas.

How to make a small living room look bigger?

If you prefer your living space to look bigger, while also adding the Delcor living room essentials, it might be advisable to add built-in shelves, which means if you're in need of extra storage space, the shelves won't take up much floor space. Using a smaller coffee table is also recommended, keeping everything compact and minimalist.

When considering a colour scheme, it's best to use the same palette, following a tonal colour scheme throughout, using one main colour, then applying different saturations of that colour across the living space. This will result in your living room feeling bigger, more organised and will look pleasing to the eye. Experts advise choosing a lighter shade rather than darker, as this will add an open, airy feel to the living area, which will be heightened by natural light coming in.
